Get More from Your Deployment with Jumpstart Services

As Workday customers look to drive additional value by expanding their feature footprint, they may want to leverage skilled internal resources to support the deployment. Jumpstart Services is designed for customers who want to maximize their in-house knowledge and skills while also getting expert advice and support from Workday.
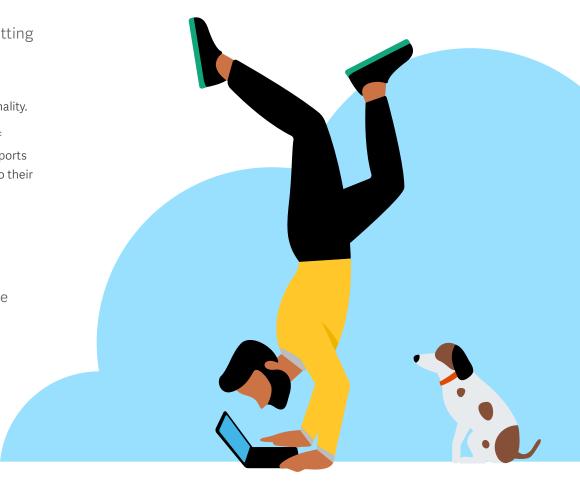

These fixed-priced packaged services can help customers efficiently and effectively extend their deployment with new product features and functionality.

During a Jumpstart, Workday helps a customer understand the full range of available options, prototypes the solution alongside the customer, and supports them after the prototype. The customer can then move the new feature into their production tenant with confidence.

"

In our design conversations, we presented our current processes and the consultant would ask questions and challenge us. Through this, we found ways to improve the processes and gain efficiencies.
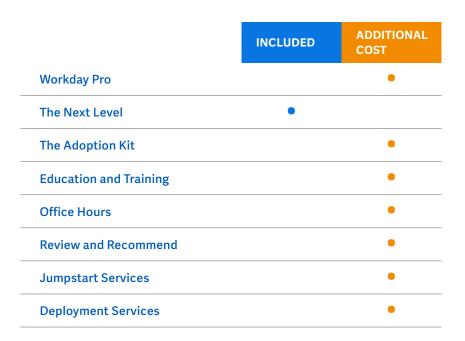

Global Program Manager, SOTI

Value

- Understand best practice approaches to deploying new features
- Ensure configuration decisions support business goals and reporting needs
- Equip teams with knowledge to support the new features in production

What We Do

Through Workday-delivered design and prototype sessions, we will:

- Demonstrate and explain key product features
- Deliver a comprehensive configuration guide with design decisions
- Configure a prototype to build upon
- Complete the knowledge transfer and support period
- Develop an effective test approach for deployments
- Support the development of a plan to deploy the features to production

	INCLUDED	ADDITIONAL COST
Workday Pro		●
The Next Level	●
The Adoption Kit		●
Education and Training		●
Office Hours		●
Review and Recommend		●
Jumpstart Services		●
Deployment Services		●

Jumpstart Services for every stage.

Workday offers a range of post-deployment services to help customers increase the value of their investment. These services address the unique needs of all customers, whether they have limited resources and require access to experts or already have in-house resources and choose to be more self-sufficient.

Workday Pro	The Next Level	The Adoption Kit	Education and Training	Office Hours	Review and Recommend	Jumpstart Services	Deployment Services

Higher Self-Sufficiency

Higher Ecosystem Reliance

"

Workday's expertise on reporting and dashboard configuration, and their clarity and timeliness throughout the Jumpstart, made all the difference as I progressed through this project and discovered what was possible.

HRIS Analyst, MediaNews Group

To determine if a Jumpstart Services package is right for you, contact us at: customer.enablement@workday.com